Epson's TM-L500A printer is the cost-effective solution for printing boarding passes and bag tags. It features high-speed printing, the reliability you need and support for AEA 2009 and Windows® print commands.

The features you need

Get the same functionality as an expensive proprietary printer at a low cost of ownership with Epson's TM-L500A. It offers fast printing of boarding passes and bag tags at check-in counters, kiosks or gates at up to 200mm per second. It features an advanced paper path with a damper and guides to greatly reduce jams and can use large fan-fold or roll media. And it can print 2D barcodes PDF417, QR Code, Aztec and Datamatrix.

Supports industry standard

The TM-L500A supports industry standards including AEA 2009 and Windows print commands and is IATA CUSS/CUPPS compliant so it can be used with existing airline applications and new open platform solutions.

Reliability you can count on

The rugged TM-L500A is easy to use, easy to maintain and is extremely reliable.

Worldwide service and support

The TM-L500A is backed by Epson's industry-leading worldwide service and support programs.

Easy system integration

With its support of industry standards and USB, serial and Ethernet interfaces, the TM-L500A is a drop-in replacement for most current proprietary printers. And Epson's expert integration team ensures installation is trouble free.

Backed by the leader

Epson printers are at work in over 200 million systems worldwide and are renowned for their quality and reliability. The TM-L500A is no exception. It offers you superior features, high reliability, low cost of ownership and a path to open platform applications. To find out more go to www.epson.com.au.
