Insurance agency gains advantages of digital workflow with Kodak E1035 Scanner

As paperwork arrives at an insurance agency, it's scanned by a receptionist on a Kodak E1035 Scanner and sent to the appropriate CSR's (Customer Service Representative's) electronic document in-box. Each CSR reviews and manages their documents as digital files. They assign each document to a template, that's part of the agency's document management system, which links it to the correct policy.

Now the agency knows exactly when each document arrived, what was done with it, by whom, and when. When a CSR is out, it's much easier to locate documents than in the previous, physical filing cabinet system, as the document management system quickly transfers files between in boxes with a click.

Benefits include time, space, and storage cost savings; fewer misplaced documents; ability to find any file quickly; and faster customer response times. Customer service is also enhanced, as the receptionist can quickly scan and return documents to those who visit the office in person.
