INTELLIGENT COMMUNICATION MEETS STYLE

HP iPAQ Data Messenger

This beautiful 3G world phone with large touch screen display, slide-out alphanumeric keyboard and GPS gives a new style to mobility. With Microsoft Office Communicator Mobile³ it delivers yet another practical way to communicate in real time.

Communicate intelligently

Mobile professionals appreciate convenience and intelligence. Whether they choose to communicate through email, voice, text, instant messaging, or the Internet – in many countries around the world – the HP Data Messenger can handle it^{1,2}.

Users can toggle between work and personal email, including push e-mail (Microsoft Exchange with Direct Push Technology). Where Wi-Fi networking is available, connect to the Internet and email¹ without using data plan minutes.

Synchronize extensive contacts, appointments, and tasks with Microsoft Office Outlook Mobile. Store up to 8GB⁵ of important work files with the convenient micro SD slot, and edit them with Microsoft Office Mobile.

Increase efficiency and improve decision making by communicating and collaborating real time with Microsoft Office Communicator Mobile³. Users can check their coworkers' availability, send instant messages, and make calls as if they were at their desk.

Work in style

Beyond intelligence, style matters as well. Users can compose more detailed communications with the full alphanumeric slide-out keyboard. When users need to view mobile content, the large touch screen display shifts automatically between portrait and landscape modes to offer more comfortable reading. When a picture means a thousand words, the integrated 3.1MP auto focus camera with 5X digital zoom is there to help. While on the road, users can get directions to their final destination with the integrated GPS and Google Maps⁶.

Who knew such a powerful mobile unified communications tool could be so stylish?
